Journey of Growth and Dedication:

A Story of Commitment at Meds Nexus

Assalam-o-Alaikum!, My name is Nouman Ijaz. I belong to a small village, named Khunda, of District Attock. I passed my early education at my village Government school. Then I came to Rawalpindi with my father to get my higher education and got admission to Gordon College. Later, I passed my Intermediate (Pre-Engineering) in 2019. After passing College, I got my first job in Pindigheb in the same year and started working under my father's friend in Pindigheb. After stabilizing my first job life, I got admitted and passed from Punjab University (PU) as a Private Student in BA (AD), a two-year program.

Professional Background

AL-Moeez Trd

In 2019, I got my first job in Unilever Distribution in Pindigheb. My first job was as a KPO and Data Entry Operator. Here my task was to handle Unilever Company's online software and portals and office-related work like sending employees' attendance to the company and working on emails. As we know Unilever is one the Pakistan's biggest household Product seller companies, here I learned how the company's internal structure and distribution network work. I work mostly on online Software and MS Office. But after 1 year and two months, I left my job due to certain circumstances and returned to Rawalpindi.

Current Role at Meds Nexus

In December 2021, I joined Meds Nexus as an intern billing associate. At that time our intern batch was trained by Sir Faisal (HOD). This was the first time I came to know about Medical Insurance and Medical Billing. This was also the first time I came to understand how much I am unaware of the modern world.

Therefore, I'm thrilled to share my experiences and insights gained while working at Meds Nexus. With almost 3 years of service, I've had the privilege of growing both personally and professionally.

Just like anyone who mostly joined any organization or cooperation intending to earn money to support their families and their daily necessities, I also joined Meds Nexus with this same intention. But as I started working and went deep in Medical Billing this intention changed into my curiosity and piqued my interest in different medical billing software, different medical terms, and specialties. As a student of computer science and web programming as my passion, I always wanted to learn about Web Design and Development, here at Meds Nexus, I got this opportunity to not only deepen my understanding of the medical world but also about how different online software are connected and work together.

When I joined Meds Nexus, Sir Faisal (HOD) once told our intern batch that medical billing is a vast sea. There are more than 70,000 Diagnosis Codes, 11,163 CPT Codes, and 135 medical specialties. So, it is very unlikely that one person can learn and memorize all these Diagnosis Codes and CPT Codes. Mostly strict to one specialty to get a tight grip on this one but some get more than one but it all depends on their learning capabilities and interest.

Meds Nexus has provided me with opportunities to take on new challenges. I've learned from exceptional colleagues and gained expertise in different medical specialties. I've successfully led many projects, resulting in outstanding outcomes, and within a year I was promoted as A/R Specialist. I've also received recognition for the Ethics and Excellence in Work Awards, which validate my hard work. Also, my team got the Team of the Year Award and it is all their hard work that gets paid off in the end.

The knowledge and experience that I got in Meds Nexus is very valuable. I learned how much communication is important not only in our work life but also in our daily life. I learn how to work in a team and communicate. The open communication, transparency, and empathy demonstrated by leadership and colleagues alike create a sense of belonging. Our diversity and inclusion initiatives foster a vibrant work environment.

My experience has taught me valuable skills like time management, resilience, patience, and effective communication. These skills have positively influenced my relationships and overall well-being.

In the end, I would like to thank Meds Nexus for Providing me with such opportunities, challenges, and knowledge.

Conclusion

Reflecting on my time at Meds Nexus, I'm filled with gratitude and excitement for the future. I'm proud to be part of a team that prioritizes growth, well-being, and making a meaningful impact aim to continue growing as a leader, exploring innovative solutions, and contributing to the company's expansion.

Pieces of Advice

Be open-minded, eager to learn, and willing to take calculated risks. Build strong relationships with your team, and don't hesitate to ask questions.

Support each other's development in enhancing collective skills and capabilities.

Recognizing and celebrating achievements foster a positive work environment and inspire Excellence. So, be happy in their happiness and try to learn from their hard work.

Hear your team leads and colleagues' advice or suggestions as they may know more about a specific problem than others, be patient and hear what they want to say because many people don't like to hear from others, especially from a junior, and this is not how teams work. Everyone should be cooperative and learn from each other.

Last but not least, be loyal to your work. whatever you are doing, do it with 100% not half-heartedly because it will not only affect you but also your colleagues.
